

E-mail Archival and Retrieval System

ACT E-mail archival and retrieval provides an easy and affordable way for businesses to secure, maintain and catalog business e-mails that have recently been classified by the courts as official company communications that must be retained for legal purposes. Companies that do business with governmental agencies or are exposed to possible litigation in Federal courts must maintain e-mail records for possible reference.

The ACT E-mail archival system frees up your e-mail server from the load of maintaining your historical files and provides an easy to use indexing system to retrieve data based upon topic, senders or recipients.
